Pisaroni family, a story of tradition, quality and sustainability.

Our history

“In the old days, in the secluded and enchanted lands of the Piacenza province, among the banks of the river Po and blooming orchards, there echoed peasant voices, oxen bellowing, iron wheels of carts overloaded with straw and hay squealing and a lot of romance.”

Today that same taste is written in the label of the Azienda Agricola Pisaroni. In these places memories, fragrances, oral tales and the blessing of the field survive: there still exists a place where all these perceptions linked to life virtues dedicated to the cult of farming become stronger.

Pizzavacca is located in Soarza di Villanova d'Arda, a hamlet of Roman origins in the province of Piacenza. Soarza stands in a secluded green country area rich in orchards and surrounded by woods all lined up along the flow of the river Po. With its stateliness and splendour the farmstead has always been both the image and the substance of the farm: an evidence of it can already be found in a map dated 1581 in the Vatican Gallery. Visiting the area immersed in the suggestive scenery of the Pianura Padana - pervaded by the air from the river Po - allows visitors to hear the sounds of the big river which recall naïf landscapes and wide spaces lingering on the horizon line. A deep journey into the arts and culture of the territory, in its traditions, experiences and folklore, easily retraced also in the characters of the operas by the great Maestro Giuseppe Verdi, who celebrated the beauty and the peculiarities of the land which gave him birth and where he chose to live.

About us

Also nowadays Pizzavacca is unmistakably seal of the simplicity and authenticity of the old days, values which the Pisaroni family hand down through the taste of their products: nectars and fruit jams, vegetable preserves.

“We are strongly tied to our land and our products are the result of the attention and care our family has always devoted to cultivating it. We want to share with our visitors the profound feeling that binds us to these places, so that they will appreciate the history, nature and tastes of our territory thanks to a series of offers appealing to the senses.”

“Cascina Pizzavacca” farmstead carries on family traditions which from generation to generation give value to typical products of these lands, property of the Pisaroni for long. Our processing activity began in 2006 when we established a small artisanal laboratory within our farmhouse. Over the years the small laboratory has transformed into a modern laboratory where vegetables and fruit grown in the field are processed.

This activity proved profitable: in a few years’ time the success obtained allowed us to transfer and enlarge the laboratory.

In this way the old stables, where livestock were raised until the 1980s, were renovated and a photovoltaic system was installed on the roof of the farmstead: it now provides energy for most of the new processing. Particular attention is given to the environment, from cultivation of raw materials to the successive stages of processing.

The company is now planning a further reduction of possible effects through the realization of a composting system fed by fruit and vegetable remains after processing. The cycle of transformation will thus be closed by fully exploiting the potential of sustainable practice, for the production of the entire power needs thanks to renewable sources. The “savoir faire” of traditional agricultural produce together with a look to the future of a reality able to innovate without losing its own roots make for the rightful means to understand true values and discover what should be preserved, so that a tradition can become substantial and not merely an exercise of memory.

A never stopping production.

Our job

In the laboratory of industrial processing from raw materials grown in the fields vegetable preserves, sauces, and vegetables in oil, fruit jams and nectars, are produced.

The success of the Pisoni's high quality products is achieved through a totally artisanal processing which follows in minute detail ancient recipes of the so-called "Bassa Piacentina" area. Though in a modern way, these recipes revive the very simple country practices which - in the past - allowed families to preserve the freshness of fruit and vegetables all year round.

Our recipes, advanced from Bruno Pisoni who is the "Chef" of Pizzavacca, absolutely avoid the use of preservatives, food colourings and other additives: the flavours and tastes we offer are thoroughly natural. The guarantee of storability for our whole production is the result of highly technological processing. Yet, this processing retrieves ordinary, ancient techniques used in past times to keep the quality of fruit and vegetables unaltered all year round. Cattolica University of Piacenza supports our company in testing the products and in the verification of the processing methods, following all due procedures under the strictest health regulations. Azienda Agricola Pisoni is ranked among the first 12 Italian companies winning the national contest "Nuovi Fattori di Successo" called by the Ministry for Agricultural and Forest Policies.

The contest aimed at enhancing and diffusing "Good Practices in Agricultural Development" realized by Young Farmers. Month after month our land gifts us fruit and vegetables with unique qualities and flavours, which allows us to offer a wide range of different tastes. The high quality of Pisoni products, confirmed by constant organoleptic controls, owes its success to the completely artisanal transformation which follows the ancient recipes of the Lower Piacentina in every detail.

Authentic, simple and tasty flavors which enhance the raw materials while preserving the authenticity.
