Product Characteristics	Usage Scenes (Usage Methods / Recommended Recipes)
Kinsumi has short internodes and belongs to the Daruma-type variety. Approx. 800 g–1,000 g per piece. Unlike lotus-type varieties, Kinsumi is characterized by a crisp and crunchy texture. Comparative component analysis with lotus root from other prefectures has confirmed its high polyphenol content. Due to its proximity to the large Kiso River, the lotus root absorbs abundant water and nutrients, resulting in rich nutrient content.	Lotus Root Hamburger Steak Mix grated lotus root with diced lotus root to retain a satisfying texture. Salad Its strong crisp texture makes it ideal for salads.
